

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The Poet's Creditors.

When dusk lay brooding o'er the hill,
And all within the house was still,
Came hurrying each creditor,
And stood without the poet's door.

"A joy I lent thee," spake an hour;
"And I a fragrance," said a flower;
"I lent thee a color," said a dove;
"And I a grief," remembered Love.

"I lent thee larger sight!" called Mars;
"I let thee stand amid the stars
And see the spring's wave of blossom roll
From the Equator to the Pole."

The poet flung his door aside,
"I can but give myself!" he cried;
"For unto me myself ye lent—
Then take it now in settlement!"

Association Course.

Under the auspices of the Lecture and Entertainment Committee, the thirty-third annual Y. M. C. A. course of entertainments will begin with the appearance in Richmond on Monday evening, October 20th, of the Ion Jackson Grand Concert Company.

The lecture committee is composed of Messrs. T. B. McAdams, chairman; R. H. Williams, secretary; L. G. Burrows, A. A. Booth, T. G. Tabb, C. W. Montgomery, Oscar Swineford, R. M. Kent, Jr., E. S. Evans and A. J. Webster. The assignment of reserved seats will take place Thursday evening, October 26th, at 8:30 o'clock in the reading room of the Y. M. C. A. building.

The programme to be presented by the Ion Jackson Grand Concert Company is given in full below, the personnel of the company rendering the forecast, from a musical and artistic standpoint, one of great interest. Dr. Jackson, a tenor singer of wide celebrity, will be assisted by Miss Adah Hussey, contralto; Miss Anna Otten, violinist; and Mr. Dion Kennedy, pianist.

This is their programme:
Duet, Nocturne (Denza)—Miss Hussey and Dr. Jackson.
a. Romanza Andalus (Sarasate); b. El fantasma (Poppo)—Miss Otten.
Songs: a. Irish Love Song (Margaret Lang); b. This Would I Do (Chapman)—Miss Hussey.

Aria (selected from some opera)—Dr. Jackson.
a. Scaramando (Rameau-MacDowell); b. Andante Finale, "Lucia," arranged for left hand alone, by Luchetzky—Mr. Kennedy.
Springtime, with violin obbligato (Becker)—Dr. Jackson.

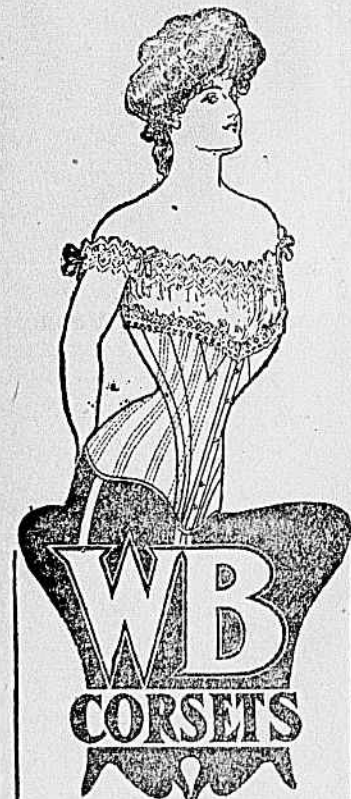

Aria, My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice (Samson and Delilah)—Saint Saens—Miss Hussey.
"Hoffe Kall," Scene de la Czarina (Hubay)—Miss Otten.
Ballad, Over the Desert (Kellie)—Dr. Jackson.

Tuscan Folk Songs (for two voices), a. A Flight of Clouds; b. Nourma and Dear (Carracolo)—Miss Hussey and Dr. Jackson.

THE TWO HIGHWAYMEN.

By WILFRID SCAWEN BLUNT.

Wilfrid Scawen Blunt was born in Sussex in 1840. He was educated at Stonyhurst and was a member of the diplomatic service for several years. He married the granddaughter of Lord Byron. He is popularly known as an ardent advocate of the Irish cause.

LONG have had a quarrel set with Time
Because he robbed me. Every day of life
Was wrested from me after bitter strife:
I never yet could see the sun go down
But I was angry if my heart, nor hear
The leaves fall in the wind without a tear
Over the dying summer. I have known
No truce with Time, nor Time's accomplice, Death.

The fair world is the witness of a crime
Repeated every hour. For life and breath
Are sweet to all who live; and bitterly
The voices of these robbers of the heath
Sound in each ear and chill the passer-by.
What have we done to thee, thou monstrous Time?
What have we done to Death that we must die?

Wilson—Beasley.

The Petersburg Index-Appeal of Sunday makes the following mention of a marriage in which Richmond people will be interested. It says:

Mrs. Virginia Allen Beasley, of Petersburg, and Mr. Leroy M. Wilson, traveling salesman, formerly of Richmond, were married in Syracuse, N. Y., yesterday a week ago. A Syracuse newspaper, in speaking of the marriage, says:

A dozen folk assembled in the parlors of the home of Mrs. Helen Burrows, at No. 69 East Fayette Street, Saturday evening to witness the culmination of a romance begun in Virginia.

Last spring Mrs. Beasley came to this city to manage an entertainment for the Day Nursery, and carried it through to a fine success, financially as well as socially.

A few weeks ago Mrs. Beasley returned and on Friday evening last she managed another successful entertainment for the Crippled Children's Guild.

On Friday Mr. Wilson arrived and was a witness at the performance, and so thoroughly did he prosecute his suit that Mrs. Beasley consented to become Mrs. Wilson on Saturday night.

Mrs. Wilson is under several contracts to promote entertainments, after which she will retire from this work. She is a woman of charming personality, and has won many friends since her first appearance in this city.

Recital at Club.

A violin and piano recital will be given at the Woman's Club Wednesday evening, November first, at 8:30 o'clock by Mrs. Huguemour and Miss Lipman, and will be one of the most attractive musical events of the season.

A delightful programme will be filled with numbers from the classical, romantic and modern schools and will be an artistic treat to all. The beautiful parlors of the Woman's Club make an ideal place for such an occasion.

Mrs. Huguemour and Miss Lipman's fine ensemble playing and the solo work of each make a programme that invites the interest of all lovers of music.

Mrs. Huguemour is a most progressive musician and has made a name for herself through her excellent work on the violin, having studied with the most prominent masters in Europe and America. Through her the Richmond people have the rare opportunity of hearing Miss Lipman, one of the leading pianists of the country.

The numbers on the programme are by Grig, Mozart, Chopin, Rubenstein, Wilhelmy, Rie and others.

Sociable at Reservoir.

Mrs. T. S. Dunn, chairman of the entertainment committee, is arranging for a sociable to be held Thursday at 8:30 at the Association building at the Reservoir.

Employees of the Virginia Passenger and Power Company and their families are invited to attend. It is aimed to make this affair, the first of the season, a very informal affair.

The programme consists of readings and recitations by Miss Senaj De France House, whose fine work has brought forth much praise from the press of other cities.

Miss Ned Greene will give instrumental selections on the piano with an accompanying violin obligato.

There will be a soloist whose voice has never failed to please.

The guessing contest will be a pleasing feature of the evening. The Virginia Passenger and Power Company Y. M. C.

A. and his Woman's Auxiliary desire to make a most enjoyable one.

McVeigh—Goldsborough.

A wedding in which Richmond people are deeply interested will be celebrated in Walkersville, Md., at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, when Miss Katherine Goldsborough becomes the bride of Mr. W. McVeigh. The well known member of the firm of McVeigh & Ginn, this city.

Mr. McVeigh is a very successful business man and enjoys unusual social popularity. The wedding will be a fashionable event in Maryland society, as his bride belongs to a family of distinction in that State. After a wedding tour of several weeks, Mr. and Mrs. McVeigh will return to make their home in Richmond.

Invitations Issued.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tyler, of No. 616 West Franklin, have issued invitations for the wedding of their daughter, Florence Lytle, to Mr. William Gray, son of Mr. Andrew Gray, of "Northfield," Cumberland county, Va. Mr. Gray has for some years been a resident of this city.

The wedding will take place in All Saints' Church, November 8th at 6 P. M., the Rev. John Y. Dowman officiating.

Engagement Announced.

Major and Mrs. M. W. Barr, of Washington, D. C., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Anna Byrd, to Mr. Samuel Lee Kelley, of this city. Mr. Kelley is a prominent member of the city in the last meeting of the Virginia Legislature, and is held in high esteem, professionally and otherwise. The announcement of his engagement, and approaching marriage will be a matter of interest to his many friends.

Miss Annetta Elizabeth Doherty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Doherty, will be married to Mr. Andrew J. Tierney today, at 11 A. M., in St. Peter's Cathedral, the Rev. Dr. Magri officiating.

The groom, who will be attended by Mr. Joseph Duffy and Mr. Nicholas Morano, is a son of Mrs. Katherine Tierney, and is employed in the offices of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway.

The bride will be given in a blue traveling hat and gown and carry Bride roses. The honeymoon will be spent in a northern tour, and Mr. and Mrs. Tierney will reside, after November 1st, at No. 208 South Fifth Street.

Parker—Cooke.

One of the most beautiful home weddings of the autumn in Richmond will be celebrated at 6 o'clock this evening in the home of Mrs. John R. Cooke, of No. 7 Third Street, when her daughter, Miss Nancy Cooke, is wedded to Mr. Stafford H. Parker, the Rev. Lindsay Patton, the bride's cousin, and the Rev. Landon R. Mason, of Grace Episcopal Church, performing the ceremony.

Miss Rachel Cooke will be maid of honor and Mr. Cary Carr of Tampa, Fla., the best man. A charming little group of ribbon holders and flower bearers will be Master Austin Brockenbrough, nephew of the bride; Nellie Henson, the bride's niece; Virginia Gordon Wallace and Amy Gordon Brockenbrough.

The halls and parlors of the Cooke house will be canvased in white and decorated in palms and pluk and white roses and spray of chrysanthemums. The bride and groom will receive the congratulations of their friends before leaving for the North. Out-of-town guests present will include Mrs. Horace Stringfellow, of Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. William J. Wallace, of Tunstall's, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Marion Lambert, of St. Louis, Mo.

Lecture at Club.
Mr. Henry Ellard, of Colorado, gave a lecture before the Woman's Club last afternoon on "The Pastoralists of Our South-west" or "The Penitents of New Mexico."

The lecture abounded with vivid descriptions of this singular, fanciful sect of whom so little is known. Mr. Ellard held the attention of his audience throughout the whole lecture, and all expressed their pleasure and interest in the valuable information given, much of the material being gathered by personal experience and observation in the distant Southwest.

Mr. Ellard will give a second lecture at the Woman's Club this evening, when his subject will be "Some Indian Legends and Western Tales." Illustrated by blankets, pottery and other Indian hand work.

Chairman's guests yesterday afternoon were: Mrs. John Burrell, Mrs. Norman Randolph, Miss Jenkins, of Baltimore, who is Mrs. Randolph's guest; Mrs. Clifford Caperton, Mrs. Alex. T. Gordon, of Louisiana, and Miss Gilberta Whittle.

Others present by invitation included Mrs. William Henry Venable, of Norfolk; Miss Lizzie Barnall, of Norfolk; Mrs. S. W. Melton, of Augusta, Ga.; Miss Louise Hayes, of Thomasville, Ga.; Miss Packard, of New Orleans; Miss Alice R. Gordon, of Fredericksburg, Va.; Miss Valerie Jewell, of Norfolk; Mrs. J. W. Tamm, and Mrs. Alice Ingersoll Carradine, of Keswick, Va.

MILITARY IN THE VETERAN PARADE

The Entire Seventy-First Regiment Is Coming to Petersburg.

MANY DISTINGUISHED GUESTS

Ellis Brought Back From West Virginia and Will Plead Guilty.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PETERSBURG, VA., October 23.—The whole Seventy-first Virginia Regiment of twelve companies, from Norfolk and vicinity, commanded by Colonel Higgins, the Norfolk Light Artillery Blues and the Old Point band, will all come to the reunion on a special train Thursday morning, and march in the big parade. It is stated by the reunion managers that the Staunton, Lynchburg and Roanoke troops will also be present, with many companies from the smaller towns of the State, assuring a fine display of the Virginia volunteers.

It is sincerely hoped that Richmond will be represented by all her infantry and artillery.

GENERAL WALKER.

Among the distinguished military guests at the reunion will be Lieutenant-General C. Irvine Walker, of Charleston, S. C., who commands the Army of Northern Department of the United Confederate Veterans. Messrs. Homer Atkinson, Carter L. Bishop and R. B. Davis are members of General Walker's staff. J. C. Curtis, a noted scout in the Army of Northern Virginia, who now lives in Sherman, Texas, will also come from the far South to rejoin his old comrades.

A proclamation enjoining orderly behavior and forbidding the use of cap-canes, torches and other explosives has been issued by the Mayor.

The body of Mr. Charles G. Smith, who was accidentally shot in Raleigh, N. C., Saturday afternoon, was brought to Petersburg Sunday afternoon, and taken to the home of his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith. His funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon from the residence.

Mr. Smith is survived by his mother, one sister, Miss Annie M. Smith, and three brothers, Messrs. A. M., William and Edward C. Smith.

WILL PLEAD GUILTY.

Joseph Ellis, under indictment here for forging the name of G. L. Foster, an Amelia county farmer, to a money order for $5, which he cashed here, was brought back from Thurmond, W. Va., this morning. Ellis came without requisition, and says that he will plead guilty. The big new skating rink at Washington and Union Streets was opened tonight, with a big crowd in attendance, and a number of expert skaters from Richmond.

DISPELLING A COMMON ERROR

Trade Conditions in Richmond Peculiarly Local.

In the North where the business section of the city is many miles from the residential portion, the morning newspaper service is somewhat different from that of a morning paper in a city like Richmond. In the North a fair-sized percentage of the morning paper's circulation is floated through news stands at convenient corners, and the morning paper goes down town in the hands of the people on their way to work to secure its pages on the trip. Of course this is only a small percentage of the paper's probably enormous circulation, but it prevents the northern morning daily from being called the exclusive home paper, such as is the case with The Richmond Times-Dispatch. In Richmond when the family comes down before breakfast, The Times-Dispatch is in their homes waiting for them, and it is possible to begin the day by absorbing the news of the world so carefully gathered and attractively presented to them, through the medium of the great system of the Associated Press, the New York Herald cable and telegraph service, in addition to the army of special Times-Dispatch special correspondents. It is this thorough exposition of up-to-date and efficient journalism, that gives the Times-Dispatch its name of the home newspaper, and makes it to Richmond people what the London Times is to the Londoner. To the advertiser this dispelling of a popular error is most important. It is not unfair to say that the advertisements in The Times-Dispatch are doubly effective as compared with the evening periodicals. They should be. Local conditions make them so. Advertisements in The Times-Dispatch are first in the homes, longest in the homes, in the homes, and makes it to Richmond people what the London Times is to the Londoner.
